CONTEMPT ORDER

THIS CAUSE, having come before the Court on February 11, 2009 on the Court's Amended Order to Show Cause entered on December 30, 2008, directed to CMI Inc., of Kentucky, and the Court being otherwise fully advised in the premises, it is hereby ORDERED AND ADJUDGED that CMI Inc., of Kentucky failed to be present before The Honorable Kimberly C. The Court finds that there has been no good cause shown for CMI's failure to comply with said Subpoena Duces Tecum. The Court further finds that CMI's Supplemental Motion to Quash, attached as Exhibit "A", is insufficient and the Memo from CMI does not constitute compliance with this Court's Subpoena. The Court imposes a $5,000 per day fine upon CMI Inc. of Kentucky until it complies with the Subpoena Duces Tecum. If CMI Inc. of Kentucky complies within twenty days of this Order, it can have the fine purged. If CMI complies after said twenty days has expired, it shall be responsible for all fines accruing until, and if, it complies.

DIV. III
CASE NO. 06-C-01500

IN RE:

State of Florida v. Christine Adkins (# 05-2043 T)
State of Florida v. William J. Sutton (# 04-1146 T)
(Charlotte County, Florida)

And

State of Florida v. Witte (# 2008-CT-004176-SC)
(Sarasota County, Florida)

CMI'S SUPPLEMENTAL MOTION TO QUASH

CMI, Inc., by counsel, files this Supplemental Motion to quash an additional purported subpoena to CMI, issued by the same Florida defense counsel, and her firm, in two additional cases. The basis for the current Motion is this Court's Order, of September 28, 2006, with regard to any further efforts by Florida defense counsel to serve CMI with a subpoena to appear, or produce anything, in Florida.

Pursuant to that Order in the Adkins/Sutton cases, the Court directed that "no subpoena issued by or on behalf of these Florida defendants shall be honored by CMI unless and until the Uniform Act respecting subpoenas for out-of-state defendants be complied with." See attached Exhibit "1". Subsequent to this calendar Order, this Court, in a separate Order entered February 8, 2007, then denied the Florida "Certificate" that Florida defense counsel Mack had presented to this Court.

This same Florida defense lawyer has now, nonetheless, issued a subpoena/subpoena duces tecum to CMI, to appear and produce documents in Florida. The subpoena issued without compliance with the applicable procedures of the Uniform Act, either in Florida or in Kentucky. This subpoena in State v. Witte is at Exhibit "2".

The subpoena was apparently premised on the idea that CMI has, as is required by Florida law, a statutorily-appointed agent in Florida, NRAI. However, CMI has no offices, employees, or documents in the state of Florida. See: Reader's Digest Association, Inc. v. Dauphinot, 749 S.W.2d 608 (Tx. App. 1990) (defense subpoenas continually issued to registered agent for non-resident corporation invalid as outside Uniform Act); and Syngenta Crop Protection, Inc. v. Monsanto, 908 So.2d 121 (Miss. 2005) (trial court lacked authority to issue subpoena duces tecum, and serve it on registered agent, for non-resident non-party corporation).

The subpoena represents a patent fishing expedition by Florida defense counsel. If defense counsel thinks that the particular issue is worthy enough of proceeding through the Uniform Act, then she is certainly welcome to take that course of action. But, otherwise, CMI respectfully moves to quash the subpoena issued here retroactive to the date the subpoena was received here in Kentucky, which was August 19, 2008.

This 31 day of October, 2008.

Respectfully submitted,
